

THE WALKING DEAD SEASON VII

To Whom It May Concern,

I have had the tremendous opportunity to get to know Michael Roddy over the last 2 decades and I can say without hesitation I have never met a more ingenious and passion person. This is a man who has been fortunate enough to translate his interests and lifelong fascinations into a career, something I can say I know a lot about.

Touching on things that inspired him in his youth, he has become a consummate producer, writer and performer. From his award winning documentary on the making of JAWS, "The Shark is Still Working", to his groundbreaking multi-media work for The Walt Disney Company, Mike's skill set, attitude and imagination elevate each and every project he is a part of.

Thank you for your time.
